PEOPLE WANT TAX, TARIFF, PASSED SOON

Harding Hopes to See Both Measures Out of Way at Once-Long Period of Debate Likely.

TAXATION COMES FIRST

BY MARK SULLIVAY WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 17 .-When congress comes together next Thursday it will have exactly 10 weeks in which to complete the program laid down for it. President Harding speaking of the two most important items of that program, taxation and the tariff, expressed a "confident hope," on his part, that congress will pass both of these measures during the 10 weeks. President Harding sincerely holds this belief; but in holding it, he is almost alone. That the taxation measure will be passed, everyone believes. As to the tariff, the decidedly stronger expectation is that this will not be on the statute books when the present session of congress adjourns on Dec.

Would Mean Vast Change. If these were the only two measures to occupy congress, they might conceivably be rushed through, but it woud not only be necessary for congress to have nothing else to do, it would also be necessary for congress to achieve immeditaely upon reassembling a solidarity of party action and a vigor of leadership, which it has not yet shown. The thing is not likely It is commonly said that, as soon as the senate reconvenes the taxation measure will be turned over to it and

The Republican leaders know that er of the several factions who are of diverse minds on this subject. What now looks probable is a fairly long senate, followed by senate, followed by senate followed by senate followed by some kind of them.

TINY VESSEL TO EXPLORE SOUTH SEAS

Sir Ernest Shackleton and Party Leave Thames Today for Uncharted Sections and Frozen Mysteries.

TO FIGHT THROUGH ICE

LONDON, Sept. 17-The Quest, the small ship on which Sir Ernest Shackleton will explore the uncharted sections of the South Atlantic, the Pacific and Antarctic seas, left the Thames today on the start of her two year voy-

Large crowds gathered on the docks to wish Sir Ernest and his party a successful voyage

The voyage of The Quest, the quaint little 200-ton ship which is carrying Shackleton and his party to frozen mysteries in the South Polar seas, has for its objectives not only oceanographic research but the exploration of a petrified forest and the location of a "lost" island-Tuanaki-the adjacent waters of which have not been sailed for more than 90 years.

In addition, soundings will be taken of the ocean plateau surrounding Gough's Island in an effort to determine the truth regarding a supposed underwater continental connection between Africa and America.

Nineteen persons, representing each of the British self-governing dominions, are expected to be aboard when the tiny but stanch craft, "built for tight corners," leaves Capetown. South Africa, for two years of buffeting its way through the Antarctic ice. The Quest, which uses both sail and steam, and which may cover more than 30,000 miles before its return home, was constructed according to the per-made several voyages to the Antarc tic. He commanded the British expedition of 1907-09, which reached within 97 miles of the South Pole and also the expedition of 1914-15 to Weddell sea. His present ship is 111 feet long, steaming radius is 9,000 miles and. can make eight knots. She carries wireless equipment and an airplane with a 25-foot wing spread. She has a glass enclosed bridge and a lookout that resembles a flour barrel. To Fly Above Fogs Major C. R. Carr, an English soldier of fortune, the aviator of the expedition, plans to fly above the Antarctic fogs to scout out passages between rapher and naturalist of the expedition. The biplane he will use is one of only three that were ever built. The other two were flown, respectively, by Colonel Borten V. C., the pioneer flyer from England to Mesopotamia, and by Sir Ross Smith, the first man to fly from England to boys. To Explore Forest The petrified forest that will be explored was found by Shackleton on the island of Trinidad at a certain point where he landed from Captain Robert F. Scott's ship, the Discovery, more than 12 years ago.

Gough's Island is eight miles long and 4,000 feet high, and in 1904, when visited for the first time on record by members of the Bruce expedition, was found to have at least four hitherto unclassified species of birds. Tuanaki, the "lost" island, has been mentioned in old nautical records but apparently has disappeared. A spot in the Pacific where it is supposed to
